Reed opened with a presentation on the Language Services Follow up Audit, Police Department and Sheriff’s Office.

The original audit outlined several resources available for interpreting services for law enforcement. Nevertheless, 42% of KCKPD officers disagreed with the statement "I have adequate resources available when I have a communication need." Similarly 34% of the WYSO deputies disagreed with the same statement. Table 1 is an excerpt of the survey results presented in the May 2015 Language Services Audit. Based on those survey results the May 2015 audit recommended the KCKPD and WYSO update its general orders and develop strategies to increase awareness of existing resources.
The follow-up audit is to determine managements progress in implementing the audit

Results

Finding and Recommendation #1

The May 2015 audit reported the PSBO did not obtain authorization from personnel knowledgeable interpreting services before payment. Paying invoices without proper authorization increases the risk of making payments above the contracted rate. The audit recommended interpreting invoices be reviewed and approved by personnel knowledgeable prior to payment.

Status – Completed

A review of interpreting invoices paid during the follow-up audit period by the PSBO on behalf of the KCKPD showed costs were authorized by command staff over the Criminal Investigative Division before payment.

Finding and Recommendation #2

Survey results from the May 2015 audit indicated not all KCKPD personnel were aware of the resources available to them for handling language barriers. The audit concluded effective communication of those resources could be an issue since the department made translation resources available. The original audit recommended the KCKPD consider updating the general orders and create a central point of contact on each shift specifically for language services to increase awareness.

Status – In Process

A policy review to address the recommendation is scheduled for February 2017 recommendations.
