Unified Government Unveils New Online Data Hub
Website Provides a Wide Range of Information and Statistics about COVID-19 in Wyandotte County

The data hub provides a wide variety of informational breakouts, charts, graphs, and other information about the spread of COVID-19 in Wyandotte County.

Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, Unified Government staff have looked for innovative ways to share data to keep our community informed. A COVID-19 Dashboard launched on March 27 has been updated daily with case counts and other COVID-19 data for the county. The new COVID-19 hub aims to make this data more user friendly, as well as expand the amount of data and additional background information that can be displayed.

The data hub includes all the statistics from the dashboard, as well as an array of additional data and resources. Some of the new features on the hub include:

- More detailed case and death data (including rates per 100,000, which makes it easier to compare data across communities of different sizes)
- An interactive map of COVID-19 testing sites
  - Click on “Experiencing Symptoms? Get Tested!” to see testing info
- A section on outbreaks, showing locations and case counts on outbreaks of 5 or more, and more information on strategies used to address outbreaks
- A map of COVID-19 data across the Kansas City metro area

According to the Unified Government, the data hub adds another layer of information transparency to its communications with County residents.

“It’s important to keep a constant stream of information about COVID-19 available to our residents,” said Dr. Allen Greiner, Chief Medical Officer with the Unified Government Public Health Department. “We’ve made a concerted effort to be open and transparent with our data and other developments throughout the COVID-19 outbreak. We feel that continued transparency is key to keeping our residents informed about the spread of the virus and how they can best help protect themselves, their families, and their community.”
